Wide Area Networks And Internet Access

New Liskeard, ON – February 23, 2006 –High speed Internet is often difficult to attain in rural areas. However, recent wireless technologies, with the aid of wide area networks, have made it possible for those in rural areas to acquire high speed Internet. If you'd like to learn more about Wide Area Networks and high-speed access in rural areas, then plan to attend NEOnet's Tech Break Time technology luncheon on Tuesday, March 7th, 2006. Patrick Miron and Tyler Simpkin of Parolink will be presenting Wide Area Networks and Internet Access.

Admission is free, and lunch is available at the participants' expense. The event will run from 12:00 p.m. until 1:00 p.m. at FranChefco's Restaurant (at the Quality Inn).

For more information on Tech Break Time or to register for this month's event, contact Darren McGaghan at 705.360.1353 ext 6 or dmcgaghan@neonet.on.ca. R.S.V.P. by March 2, 2006.

Note: NEOnet is a regional non-profit technology development organization working to improve telecommunications services and ICT adoption in Northeastern Ontario.
